

NOTED FIGURES TO BE AT ENCAMPMENT

Fiftieth Annual Meeting of G. A. R. to Attract Distinguished Warriors.

Washington's streets will be well filled with noted figures during the week of the fiftieth annual encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic, to be held here late in September. There will be in the throng many men whose achievements have made the pages of American history bright.

Col. John McElroy, past senior vice commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., is now preparing a roster of the noted figures who are expected to take part in the reproduction of the grand review held fifty years ago. Among these are the two surviving corps commanders of the Union Army, Maj. Gen. Granville M. Dodge, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Maj. Gen. James H. Wilson, of Wilmington, Del. The former commanded the famous Sixteenth Corps, and the latter all the cavalry between the Allegheny mountains and the Mississippi.

Maj. Gen. Peter Joseph Osterhaus, a division commander, who for many years has lived in Mannheim, Germany, will come to Washington to visit his son, Admiral Hugo Osterhaus, U. S. N. Other division commanders who have announced their intention to be present, if possible, are Maj. Gen. David McEn. Gregg and Maj. Gen. Adelbert Ames, at one time governor of Mississippi and Senator from that State.

Others who are on the roster of prospective visitors are Admiral George Dewey, who was one of Admiral Farragut's young officers, gaining distinction in the attack upon Port Hudson; Lieut. Gen. Nelson A. Miles, who entered the service as first lieutenant, and became colonel of the Sixty-first New York Volunteers, and who as a brigade commander delivered at Sunderland Station, Va., the momentous blow that cut General Lee's last railroad connection and compelled the surrender of Petersburg and Richmond; Admiral Colby M. Chester, a young officer of Farragut's squadron; Lieut. Gen. S. M. B. Young, who rose from an enlisted man to be colonel and brevet brigadier general, and then entered the regular army, being retired in 1904 with the rank of lieutenant general. He is now governor of the United States Soldiers' Home at Washington.

Col. John L. Clem, Quartermaster Corps, U. S. A., the only survivor of the civil war on the active list of the army, is stationed at Washington, and is taking a lively interest in the arrangements for the forty-ninth encampment of the G. A. R. Colonel Clem was baptized in the fire of battle as a drummer boy in the sanguinary contest at Shiloh. He had many thrilling experiences, and because of his undaunted valor in the "horrible" night of Chickamauga Generals Rosecrans and Thomas bestowed upon him the title, "Drummer Boy of Chickamauga," which he proudly wears to this day. Prior to the battle of Chickamauga he wore the cognomen, "Johnny Shiloh."

Another drummer boy of the rebellion who will be present is Abram Springsteen, who was but ten years of age when he entered the service. He will have charge of a drum, fife, and bugle corps of 100 sons and grandsons of Union veterans in the grand review at the G. A. R. encampment.

Maj. Gen. J. Warren Keifer, of Ohio, has promised to attend the encampment. He wore the double stars of his rank in two wars, and is still active. He commanded a brigade and division in the fighting Sixty Corps in the civil war, and was commander of a division of the Seventh Army Corps in the war with Spain. General Keifer served several terms in Congress and was one time Speaker of the House. He declared recently that he is ready and willing to go to war for Uncle Sam if his services are needed.

Widows and Spinsters, Listen! Here's a Chance

Farmer, Who Says He's Prosperous and Owner of Fine Virginia Tract, Asks The Times to Find Him a Real, Loving Mate.

While Cupid sits astride the printing press, The Times makes public today a letter it has received offering some spinster or widow, of forty-five or thereabouts, a home and a husband just over the Virginia line.

It is an axiom of the Department of Agriculture—fitly expressed by Dr. Harvey W. Wiley when he was its pure food expert—that a real benefactor is he who makes two blades of grass grow where one grew before.

A farmer, who says he is prosperous and the owner of some of the finest land that ever sprouted a carpet of green grass, is in search of a wife. Some. For four years this nobleman of nature has been a widower. No woman's smile has shed its radiance about his household; his cows and the chickens have missed the soft summons in a woman's voice; the clinging vines about his house are no longer the place himself needs companionship.

A Call From Hills.

Listen, all ye who are love-hungry, to his call from the Virginia hills: "I own 100 acres of the prettiest farm this side of Richmond and only fifteen miles from Washington. I would like to get an old maid from forty to forty-five years of age, or a widow with no children. I am hale and hearty, and was never under the knife.

RALPH IS BLAMED FOR 25 DISCHARGES

Plate Printer Says Director Is Responsible for Loss of Jobs in Engraving Bureau.

Director Joseph E. Ralph, of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, and the compromise agreement of 1912, that resulted in legislation permitting the printing of the backs of United States currency by power presses, sponsored by the Director, are responsible for the recent dismissal of twenty-five plate printers at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, according to the latest number of the Plat Printer, the official organ of the International Steel and Copper Plate Printers Union of North America.

In a leading article headed, "He Should Take the Blame," the plate printer declares that the discharge is squarely up to the director. It is charged that Mr. Ralph promised in 1912 that there would be no discharge as a result of the introduction of power presses, and that this promise was the cause of the discharge, for it was on it, it is said, that Congress provided for the printing of backs of currency in power presses in limited quantity, to be increased slowly each year.

The publication absolves the present officials of the Treasury Department of all blame for the recent discharges, saying that they had to meet a situation as they found it.

Life-Saving Suit Tested Successfully in Potomac

Tests of a life-saving apparatus that is designed to make loss of life at sea in such tragedies as those of the Titanic and Lusitania impossible, were made in the Potomac river near the Potomac boat house late yesterday. David Murray and, son of the inventor of the apparatus, remained in the water nearly an hour, emerging warm and dry after the test.

The device is a full water tight suit so constructed that the wearer retains an upright position in the water. It has been tested previously here and at New York and Norfolk and has never failed.

Joseph Letter and a party of friends witnessed the tests yesterday, which were arranged by Thomas Edgar Aud, of Herndon, Va., the inventor of the suit.

Charges That U.S. Reserve Banks Violate Neutrality

Formal charges that the neutrality of the United States is being violated by the use of Federal Reserve notes, and the discounting of commercial paper by the Federal Reserve banks to further the financing of war orders for the allies, have been laid before the Federal Reserve Board by former Congressman Fowler, of Illinois, as council for Labor's National Peace Council.

Presentation of this formal complaint followed a verbal one lodged with the board some days ago. It has been taken under advisement by the board.

THE ADVENT OF THE ALL-GAS KITCHEN

Get Rid of the Dust, Dirt, Ashes and Heat of the Coal Range

Cook With Gas in a Cool, Clean Kitchen!

Don't double your housework and ruin your health in a hot kitchen this summer. Gas cooking means the saving of health and strength as well as a saving of money.

Cooking on a coal range you burn fuel all day long, use the fire only about three or four hours, and you have to heat up the metal of the stove before it is of cooking service.

Cooking with gas the fire is immediately under your control—you burn fuel only while you are actually cooking. In most homes the saving gas cooking effects will pay for the gas range.

The gas water heater gives you all the hot water you want when you want it. It heats the water, not the house—don't forget that.

Suppose you investigate. Let us show you the gas range that will best suit your purpose. Phone Main 8284—write us a line and we will have our representative call upon you and give you full particulars.

Easy monthly terms if desired or 5% discount for cash.
